OUR STORY.

We publish this week the following interesting account of the formation of glaciers and icebergs, in lieu of a story. Our young friends and old ones, too, we have no doubt will be interested in it, and endeavoring as we do, to improve as well as interest our readers, we hope all will be instructed by "our story."

Glaciers and Icebergs.

Dr. Isaac I. Hayes, the Arctic explorer, who has lately issued an attractive volume of Arctic explorations, delivered an address last evening before the Long Island Historical Society, at the Chapel of the Packer Institute on Joralemon street, Brooklyn. The subject—Green and Glaciers and Icebergs—was treated in a vivid and picturesque manner which received marked attention. The substance of the lecture is given below:

To begin then at the beginning—the iceberg is formed upon the land of mountain snows; it is composed of the hardest and most transparent ice, and like the ship that is built to ride the deep, it is launched into the great sea on stupendous natural "ways."

The iceberg of the Arctic seas has its birthplace and cradle on the mountains of Greenland alone.

Greenland may indeed be regarded as a vast reservior of ice. Upon the slopes of it lofty hills, the downy snow-flake has became a burdened crystal, and increasing little by little from year to year, and from century to century, a broad cloak of frozen vapor has at length completly over spread the land, and from every side there pour hundreds of crystal streams into the ocean.

The manner of this glacier growth beginning in some remote geological epoch, when Greenland, nursed in warmth and sunshine, was covered with vegetation, is somewhat singular.

The principle of glacier growth is, however, the same in all quarters of the globe where glaciers exist; and the subject has long been one of profound scientific inquiry and speculation. The field of research has been hitherto very limited, being confined mainly to the Swiss Alps—the explorers of which region have made the glaciers of Chamouni, Grindelwald and Aar, as familiar in works of science as in Murray's Hand Book.

Almost every explorer of Alpine glaciers has formed the theory of their growth and origin. We have the "Expansion Theory" of Schaucher, announced as early as the year 1705; the "Dilutation Theory" of Charpentier; the "Sliding Theory" of Saussure; the "Theory of Rendeau;" the "Vitrous Theory" of Agassiz; the "Viscous Theory" of Forbes; and lastly the "Theory of Tyndall." One of the first to throw important light upon the subject was Rendeau, Bishop of Annecy, who published the results of his experiments in 1841.

The distinguished and careful observer prefaced the paper announcing his discoveries with a reflection upon the accumulations of the mountain snows. These snows are partly in a condition which results in ice. The accumulation, thus formed, Rendeau estimates to equal in the Alps, 58 inches annually, which would make the Alpine mountains 400 feet higher to a thousand years.

Now it is evident that nothing like this occurs in nature. The conserving will of the Creator has employed for the performance of His work the great law of circulation, which strictly examined, is found everywhere to reproduce itself. The waters circulate from the ocean to the air, where they form clouds; from the air to the earth in the form of dews and rain, and snows; from the earth back again to the ocean, through the great rivers which have gathered up the smaller streams from every hillside and valley.

The law of circulation is in the Alps; in the lofty Himalayas; in the Andes; in the mountains of Norway and Greenland, the same as in the lower and warmer regions of the earth, where the rivers drain the surface water to the sea. A glacier is in effect but a flowing stream of frozen water, and the "river system" of the temperate and equatorial zones, become the glacier systems of the Arctic and Antarctic.

The snow falling upon the mountains is converted into ice and, the ice, strange though it seems, is movable—by what exact principle of movement, or by what correlation of forces, the philosophers have not yet decided to their mutual satisfaction; but is nevertheless true; a great frozen flood is pouring down the east and west slopes of Greenland; what is gained in height by one year's freezing is lost by the downward movement of the whole body.

When long ages ago, after pouring over the sloping land it finally reached the coast and looked down the bay which it was ultimately to fill up its face was perhaps hundreds of feet high.

Gradually it sank beneath the line of water as flowed outward, and now, it has sunk almost beneath the waves.

And here let me now call your attention to the fact that fresh ice floating in salt water has above to below the proportion of one to seven—that is, only one-eighth of the mass floats above the surface. It will thus be seen that, as this natural equilibrium is destroyed by a disproportionate quantity below the surface, the upward pressure exerted by the water must ultimately become very great; and at length this force is sufficiently powerful to break off a fragment of greater or less size, which, rising with a roaring sound, resembling the loudest thunders of heaven, and with a commotion of the waters which may be felt for leagues, gains at length, after many oscillations, its true level, and, floating quietly away with the current, is called an icey berg.

And this iceberg drifts about for years and years—the sport of winds and currents—and, little by little, it melts away and mingles with the ocean. And thus the frozen Glacier river has fulfilled its parts in the great law of circulation and change.

The dew drop, distilled upon the tropic palm leaf, falling to the earth has re appeared in the gurgling spring of the primeval forest, has flown with the rivulet to the river, and with the river to the ocean, has then vanished in the air and wafted northward by the unseen wind, has fallen as a downy snowflake upon the lofty mountain, where, penetrated by a solar, it has become again a little globule of water; and the chilly wind following the sun, has converted this globule into a crystal; and the crystal takes up its wandering course again—seeking the ocean.

But where its movement was once rapid, it is now slow; where it once moved miles in hours, it moves now not more in centuries; and where it once entered calmly into the sea it will join the world of waters with convulsive explosion.

One berg measured by him gave the following startling dimensions—Height above water, 315 feet; circumference three miles; and since fresh water ice floating in sea water was seven times as much below as above the surface of the water, the entire depth of the floating ice island would be nearly a half a mile. These dimensions would give the berg a cubical contents of twenty-seven billions of feet, or in round numbers two billions of tons, I leave you to calculate for yourselves, said the lecturer, how large a part of it would be required to pay on the national debt, were it transported into this region of ice creams and sherry cobblers.

In the months of July and August the warm sunshine playing continually upon it causes an unusually heated condition of the interior and the result is a frequent discharge of masses from the side, often resulting in a destruction of the equilibrium of the berg, its capsizing and in consequence the disengaging of enormous fragments. One such dissolution was described in detail.—The berg was when first seen about one mile long, and presented over its surface a perfect fount of lofty spires.

Suddenly one of those spires, which had probably been undermined by the sea, gave way and came crushing down into the sea with a force which sent the spray flying wildly, and filled the air with sounds which might be heard for many miles. Immediately afterward the berg began, leisurely to resolve, and after a while other masses split away from the opposite side with a crash even louder than that which preceded it, and then the berg was set revolving back again, again to send off a montrous fragment, and thus this monster kept wallowing in the sea for almost twelve hours before it came to rest; when the waters were everywhere covered by the masses which had been detached, and of the original of them was nothing left but the merest fragment of the original body, and this was shorn of every spire and was but a shapeless lump of witness. I have never witnessed a more sublime or imposing spectacle.

The Eight Hour System.

Much unnecessary, and we fear mischievous, excitement is being caused by the eight hour labor movement, which at the time is engaging the attention of the industrious classes in many parts of the country, and which we predict will as usual terminate unfavorably to the laboring man. The organizations called Trade's Assembly and Trade's Union having mainly the object of securing better wages from employers and more leisure for improvement and amusements are urging all working men, who are in sympathy with their movement, to unite with these organizations and aid in effecting the proposed revolution of the labor system. While every one must notice the inequality existing between the employed and the employer, and admit the necessity of a change in the relation of labor to capitol in recognizing the advantages which the latter maintains over the former, all do not agree that the proposed manner of proceeding or the means employed will accomplish the purposes desired. The question under discussion opens a broad field for investigation and involves principles of great importance effecting the welfare of both parties, and should be disposed of with as little injury as possible to either of the contending classes. The Legislature has placed the movement prominently before the people of the State by an attempt to legislate upon the subject, but its effort to remedy the evils, justly complained of by the advocates of the reform, will scarcely change the operations of the natural laws which govern them exclusively. The laws of supply and demand cannot be changed by the enactments of a legislature or by any civil law, nor can the strikes of workman for higher wages effect them much. The laboring man is not altogether without blame for the position which he occupies. It is mainly of his own choosing and he persists in refusing to help himself. He assists in forging the chains, which bind him, and whenever they become over burdensome his efforts to disengage himself are generally of a spasmodic nature, misdirected and of no avail. From a dearly bought experience he relearns the futility of such exertions and again quietly submits to his fate.—In this passive relation he again proceeds to fortify the position of his employer by voting for his tariffs, by voting to have his capital exempt from taxation, and by voting for his interests generally, and neglecting to vote for his own. After having again prepared his employer to resist his demands he becomes dissatisfied with his wages and moves upon his oppressor with the only means of redress at his command,—called by the craft a strike. In this, like an unskillful general he attacks his opponent in his strongest position and like such a general he deserves defeat. He simply refuses to work unless he gets better pay. He has, by his labor and voting, made his employer able to dispense with his services, and the result is that the striker starves himself and his family awhile and then begs for work at his employers terms. To all such workingmen of radical tendencies we would say candidly, truthfully, and with long experience in the cause, that the Democratic party is the best Trades' Assembly or Trade's Union that the world ever saw. Join it and vote the democratic ticket and raise yourselves to an equality with your employers. Thousands of your professional comrades have enlisted in its cause and with your assistance the elevation of the workingman will be speedy and permanent. It is yet time to strike at the root of the evil to begin at the beginning and then your efforts will be sure of the merited reward.

Taken Back.

We learn that on last Saturday late in the evening a young man of tolerable respectable appearance, who gave his name as Charles Dyer, put up a boarding house in Athens and remained there over Sunday. Some time during the day a report reached that place that a horse saddle and bridle had been hired from S. N. Little & Co.'s Livery stable keepers in Springfield, on the afternoon of the previous day, by a young man, on the pretense of going about two miles into the country with the promise of returning in two or three hours, and that the man had failed to fulfill his promise. The description of the missing man, horse and bridle corresponded sufficiently with Dyer and his equipage to warrant the supposition that he was the man who the search was for. The suspicion was strengthened by his offering to trade or sell the horse and saddle, and also by his taking the saddle from the boarding house, Sunday evening after dark, and concealing it in the stable. He was disappointed in this scheme however for the the saddle was missed, brought back and safely secured. Early on Monday morning the citizens of Athens had him put under arrest and S. N. Little & Co., were promptly apprised of their proceedings, who in the afternoon went to Athens and recognized their man and also claimed the property. Dyer was then sent back to Springfield and had a preliminary examination before Justice Adams. The accused was ordered to give $500 bail for his appearance on Friday for further examination, in default of which he was committed to jail.

A FEARFUL ADVENTURE.—A young man in Ionia county, Michigan, last week descended a well to clean out the sand at the bottom. While he was thus engaged the stones began to fall, and his father, hearing the rumbling, shouted to him to "jump upon the bucket," and immediately commenced drawing him up with all possible speed. The strife of the next minute or two was intense, and the scene awful. He was kept in advance of the falling masses of stones and dirt that were filling the cavernous depths below him, till within about fifteen feet from the surface. The caving in was too rapid, and there the stones caught and instantly wedged him in. As soon as possible the neighbors were aroused, and in a short time a hundred or two were at the scene of the disaster. The young man was yet alive, as they learned from time to time, by hearing his smothered groans and faint answers to their questions. The work of rescuing him at once commenced, great care being used, as stone after stone was gently removed, lest the treacherous and sandy earth around should be disturbed and cave in anew, and thus fill up the interstices which might otherwise afford air sufficient to sustain life for some hours at least. The anxiety of course was most intense, and the suspense of his parents and friends fearful, while their hopes alternately rose and fell as now they could distinguish a groan, or a feeble response to their questioning, and anon all would be still again. Finally, after four hours' labor, they reached the sufferer, and found him sitting upon the sharp edges of the bucket, with a large boulder in his lap, sitting erect, with his head thrown back against a portion of the circular wall, and two or three stones resting partly against his head, and so inclined as to rest also against the wall and each other, and "wedge." He was securely held immovable in his position, and fortunately the stones were so arched and keyed that they did not again start during all the time that the men were engaged in digging him out. On being raised to the open air, the young man swooned but soon revived No bones were broken, and his bruises were so slight that after two or three days he was out, apparently in his usual health

SAN FRANCISCO, April 18 —The steamships Sierra Nevada, from Mazatlan April 10, has arrived, bringing $211,400 in treasure.

Late dates from the northern States of Mexico state that the Liberal forces under Escobedo had completely surrounded Queretaro leaving no means of egress to Maximilian's forces without giving battle.

Rumors that the Liberals forces had been defeated, and are suffering for lack of supplies, are directly contradicted

The report of a revolution headed by Heiron, in San Luis Potosi, is denied. A letter received from President Juarez to-day says the place is [illegible], and makes no mention of disturbance taking place or anticipated.

The Mexican Consul to day received a letter from Geo. Corona in reference to operations at Queretaro up to March 14th, which state that the Liberals made a reconnoissance in force, bringing on an engagement which lasted eight hours and resulted in driving the Imperialists from some of their positions.

The Liberal Force numbers 26,000 and the Imperials 10,000.

NEW YORK, April 22.—The steamer Peruvian, from Southampton, 9th has arrived.

The French press are outspoken regarding Luxemburg.

The Journal, of St. Petersburgh, say the sale of Russian America will prove mutually advantageous, and the commercial interests of both countries will be promoted.

A large meeting at Berlin declared that Luxemburg must not be separated from Germany.

NEW YORK, April 22. — Advices from Europe per Bremen says the Paris correspondent of the London Times gives the rumor that Marshal McMahon had been sent for. The French Government had sent an energetic note to Prussia on the Luxemburg question, and certain officers of the staff had been sent on a mission to the Rhine. The people believe that France is drifting into a war There is a general stagnation of business, and the spirit of commercial and industrial enterprise is especially paralyzed.

The Etendard draws the conclusion that Luxemburg must be evacuated by Prussia, or after a brief delay there will be war.

The most strenuous efforts are being made to supply the French army with breach loaders. One hundred and fifty thousand will be ready to be served out within a month.

It is also reported that the army of Lyons has been ordered to hold itself in readiness.

Notwithstanding the rumors and the panic for some time on the bourse, Marquis Moustier, on the 8th, stated, by order of the Emperor, to the French Legislatif body that France is disposed to examine the question in concert with the great powers, and believes, therefore, peace cannot be disturbed.

LOCAL MATTERS

The End of Volume VII.

With this week we close the VII volume of the "Axis." During the years that has past and gone I have done all that I could with my limited facilities, to make the newspaper meet the demands of the public. As the patrons and friends are doubtless aware, we have but very limited means by which to carry on a paper, under the existing circumstances. In the first place we are not so situated as to command any extra amount of patronage—the entire care and responsibility of the whole concern devolving upon me individually—thus having such a variety of duties, it leaves but little time or opportunity scarcely sufficient to give the proper attention to any one particular part of our business particularly the locals and correcting the errors of the type. We trust that our readers will continue to indulge us, hoping for a better day to come, when we can be enabled to present the Axis in a better fashion. Thanking the friends, for past favors, I remain,

Very Respectfully,
C. Clay.

Great Slaughtering of Snakes.—Mr. J. M. Plunkett informs us that on last Thursday, whilst his hands were gathering rocks for repairing the streets of this place, when near "Old Salem," they came upon a snake's den, the snakes were all coiled around one another numbering 81 they were all killed, some measured four feet, and strange to say they were of different species of snakes.

Tax List.—In another place will be found the delinquent list, all persons who have not paid their taxes had better call on Mr. Tice immediately and save more cost.

☞ We call the attention of our readers to the new advertisement of some fine Merino sheep for sale, two miles south of Havana. Those wishing to purchase will do well to go to the sale.

Still Victorious.—Weil's Clothing House. is selling West side square, Jacksonville, the very best Garments, thirty per cent lower than in 1865, is decidedly successful and deserves well of a large patronage. The same Establishment Manufactures Garments to order from a well assorted stock of piece goods consisting of all grades of Casemere, Cloth, Doeskin of American and foreign maker. The reputation of WEIL's Clothing House, for superior articles, is established.

Construction.—Congress and the President seem to have got into a terrible muddle over Mrs. Dixie's White Elephant—each finding the ownership of the "critter" a very unmanagable piece of business. If they could only be induced to meet in solemn council, and imbibe a bottle of "Dr. J. W. Polland's White Pine Compound," we should see the lion and the lamb lying peacefully down together, waiting to the little child to lead them.

The only reliable preparation for the Coughs, Colds, Pulmony affections, affections of the Bladder, Kidneys, &c.—Sold by all druggists.

Nervous and Sick Headache, Causes and Cure.—Nervous and sick headache are induced by indigestion, costiveness, foul stomach, and a torpid state of the liver. Persons suffering from these complaints should avoid, as much as possible, the too free use of spirituous and malt liquors, coffee and tobacco, and keep the bowels open, by small but frequent doses of Roback's Blood Pills, and pursuing a regular course of habits, when they will find they never fail to remove the difficulty.

Valuable Advice for the Afflicted. Dr. Strickland, in reply to numerous applications for advice, wishes to inform those who are afflicted, that they may consult him on all Acute or Chronic Diseases by letter, stating the age, symptoms, &c., with a fee of two dollars enclosed. Dr. S. has obtained great notoriety as an experienced Physician, both in Europe and America, especially in the treatment of Chronic Complaints, after other doctors have failed to effect a cure. Those suffering should immediately send for a prescription, addressing Dr. A. Strickland, Cincinnati, Ohio

☞ It is acknoledged by Physicians, Druggists, and every body else who ever used it, that Dr. Strickland's Cough Balsam will cure Coughs, Colds, Asthma, aand all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, quicker and better than any other remedy known. We would recommend our readers to try this great remedy, knowing it to be A No. 1.

☞ We are authorised to announce that Hon. James Harriott, is a candidate for re-election to the office of Judge of the Twenty-first Judicial Circuit, at the judicial election to be held on the first Monday of June next. [april 20, 1867

GREAT NEW ENGLAND REMEDY,

DR. J. W. POLAND'S

WHITE PINE COMPOUND!

Is now offered to the afflicted throughout the country, after having been proved by the test of eleven years, in the New England States, where its merits have become as well known as the tree from which, in part, it derives its virtues. The

WHITE PINE POUND CURES

Sore Troats, Colds, Coughs, Diptheria, Bronchitis, Switting of Blood and Pulmonary Affections generally. It is a remarkable remedy for Kidney compplaints, Diabetes, Difficulty of Voiding Urine, Bleeding from the Kidneys and Bladder, Gravel, and other complaints.

The White Pine Compound!

"It was early in the spring of 1852 that this compound was originated. A member of my family was afflicted with an irritation of the throat attended with a disagreeable cough. I had for some months previous thought that a preparation having for its basis the inside bark of white pine might be so compounded as to be very useful in diseases of the throat and lungs.—To test the value of it in the case alluded to, I compounded a small quantity of the medicine that I had been planning, and gave it in teaspoonful doses. The result was exceedingly gratifying. Within two days the irritation of the throat was removed, the cough subsided and a speedy cure was effected. Soon after this I sent some to a lady in Londonderry, N. H., who had been suffering for some weeks from a bad cough, occasioned by a sudden cold, and had raised mucus streaked with blood. She soon found relief and sent for more. She took about ten ounces of it, and got well. J. B. Clarke, Esq., editor of the Manchester Daily Mirror made a trial of the same preparation in the case of a severe cold and was cured immediately. He was so highly please with the results, and so confident in success attending its sales, if placed before the public, that he finally persuaded me to give it a named, and it abroad to benefit the suffering. In November, 1855, I first advertised it under the name of White Pine Compound. In two years from that time there had been wholesaled in Manchester alone one $10⁰⁰ worth where it took the lead of all the cough remedies in the market, and it still maintains that position. There is good reasons for this; it is very soothing and healing in its nature, in its nature, is warming to the stomach and pleasant withal to the taste, and is exceedingly cheap.

"As a remedy for kidney complaints the White Pine Compound stands unrivaled. It was not originated for that purpose; but a person in using it for a cough was not only cured of the cough, but was also cured of a kidney difficulty often years standing. Since that accidental discovery many thousands have used it for the same complaint, and have been completely cured."

The above was written by Dr. Poland, in 1860. Since then, as in Manchester, the White Pine Compound has taken the lead of all cough remedies, as well as preparation for the cure of kidney difficulties, in every city, town, village and hamlet throughout the New England State. This remedy is as safe and pleasant to take as it is effectual.

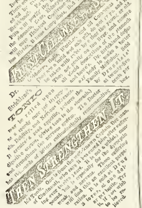
The Fate of Dr. Livingstone.

At a meeting of the British Royal Geographical Society, on the 25th March, a dispatch was read from Dr. G. E. Seward, of which the following is a summary:

With an escort reduced to twenty by desertions, deaths and dismissals he had traversed, as I believe, terra incognita, between the confluence of the Leonde and Rovuma rivers at Ngnomioa and the eastern or northeastern shore of Lake Nyassa, had crossed the lake at some point not yet ascertained, had reached a station named Kampunda, on its western or northwestern shore, and was pushing westward or northwestward into dangerous ground, when between Marenga and Makliscora a band of implacable savages stopped the way, a mixed herd of Zulus or Mafite and Nyassa folk—The Nyassa folk were armed with bow and arrow, the Zulus with the traditional shield, broadbladed spears and axes.

With Livingstone there were nine or ten musketeers, his Johanna men were resting with their loads far in the rear. The Mafite instantly came on to fight. There was no parley, no avoidence of combat. They came on with a rush, with war cries, rattling their shields with their spears. As Livingstone and party raised their pieces the onset was for a moment checked. Livingstone fired and two Zulus were shot dead. His boys fired, but their fire was harmless. He was in the act of re-loading, when three Mafites leaped upon him through the smoke. There was no resistance—there could be none. One cruel axe cut from behind put him out of life. He fell, and his terror stricken escort fled. One of the fugitives escaped, and he it is who tells the tale—Ali Moosa, chief of his escort of porters. Livingstone, as usual, led the way, his nine or ten unpracticed musketeers at his heels. Ali Moosa had nearly come up with them, having left his own Johanna men resting with their loads, far in the rear.—Suddenly he heard Livingtone warn the boys that Mafite was coming. The boys, in turn, beckoned to Moosa to press forward.—Moosa had just gained the party and sunk down behind a tree to deliver his own fire, when his leader fell.—Moosa fled for his life along the path he had come. His Johanna men threw down their loads, and with him fled into the deeper forest. If the Mafite really passed Moose, his escape and that of his people really verges on the marvelous. However at sunset they in great fear left their forest refuge, and got back to the place where they hoped to find their baggage. It was gone, and then with increasing dread they crept to where their slain leader lay. Near him in front, the grim Zulus who was killed under his sure aim. Here and there lay scattered some four dead members of the expedition. One blew had killed Dr Livingstone outright. He had no other wound but this terrible gash. From their description, it must have gone through the neck and spine up to the throat in front. It had nearly decapitated him. Death came mercifully in its suddenness, for David Livingstone was "ever ready." The Mafite had respected him when dead, for he was stripped only of his outer clothing, a grave was dug with sticks and the body buried. Ten, whose names are given, stood before the Mafite with Livingstone; of these four were seen dead, and the rest save Ali Moosa, are missing. The Johanna men made their way back to Kampunda. "The date of Livingstone's death," observes Mr. Seward, "is left to conjecture." He infers that Livingstone left Malaka about the middle of July last, and that the fatal encounter took place during September. The Johanna men name six weeks as about the probable time of their journey, but their statements are vague and untrustworthy.

A STRANGE DISCOVERY.—An indigent old lady, who had long subsisted upon the charity of members of the church to which she belonged, in Buffalo, recently "shuffled off this mortal coil," and her effects were taken to an up-town auction store to be disposed of. Among these effects was what the girls used to call a "bustle," Tosnure as we say in French—a strange article to be found in the possession of a female who, it was reasonable to suppose had long since cast aside the vanity of this world, and was longer "on her shape." Now this same "bustle," while patiently waiting with the other traps to be sold, excited a deal of curiosity, especially from the male Toodleses who most do congregate about auction stores; and yesterday afternoon, while one of these, more inquitive than the others, was endeavoring to satisfy himself as to what the internal arrangements of the machine were like, effected a trench in the outside covering, when two $5 greenbacks and a marriage certificate were brought to light.—We understand that the investigation is to be continued, as it is supposed that rich deposits still remain. We shall endeavor to give our readers the result of the prospecting to follow.—Commercial Advertiser.



What is the Cause of Disease? Impurity of the blood.
Therefore, as it is acknowledged by every body that Dr. Strickland's Purifying Anti-Bilious Pills will purify the blood, by regulating the stomach, Liver, Kidneys, and bowels, they will cure Habitual Costiveness, Headache, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Giddiness, Boils, Blotches, and all Cutaneous Diseases. They are a mild and safe pill, do not gripe, and may be taken with safety by either the young or old. They act gently on the liver, and remove all vitiated conditions of the stomach and bowels. Dr. Strickland defies any body to make a better Family Medicine. Sold by Druggists at twenty-five cents per box.
Dr. Strickland's TONIC may be relied upon as a speedy cure for Dyspepsia, Debility and Nervous Disease. It creates a good appetite, restores the stomach, digestive organs, giving tone to the nervous system. The Doctor has thousands of letters enthusiastically recommending his Tonic. One is from the well known Captain Dee man, of Cincinnati, who says it has cured him after suffering over twelve years. It is not a whisky compound, but is especially for the dyspeptic, weak, and nervous. These sufferers will find this an excellent preparation. It is sold at Drug Stores, at one dollar per bottle. Try it, if you wish to be relieved.

MOST PERFECT
SEWING MACHINE!
THE "NEW MEDALLION,"
one of the greatest wonders of this inventive age.
PRICE ONLY $35!

The great success of the Medallion Machines since their introduction is without parallel in the history of Sewing Machines. Wherever they have been sent they have given universal satisfaction, and received the most flattering commendatory notices from both Press and Public. By better adaption and connection of the several parts each movement is positive and absolute, and at the same time light and easy, as to obtain the highest speed with little or no noise, and without injury to the Machine.

The simplicity, cheapness and practical utility of these Machines renders them superior to any other in the market. Several very valuable and important improvements have recently been added, greatly enhancing their already superior qualities. An examination of this beautiful piece of mechanism is only necessary to convince the skeptical of its practical utility and marked advantages over all other Sewing Machines now before the public. In fact are not surpassed by any in the market.—They are capable of doing anything required of a Family Machine. More simple and reliable than any other, and with all its advantages is sold for the low price of

THE CELEBRATED

THIRTY-FIVE DOLLARS!

☞ Persons who have any desire to economize, will see the folly of investing money in $50, $60 and $65 machines, when $35 will buy a better one for all practical purposes.

☞ The "Medallion" is a double thread machine, sews from common spools, both above the table, without rewinding, runs with great ease, and with less noise than any two-thread machine manufactured. The preferences given by the best judges for this machine, is the most convincing proof of its many excellencies.

SYRUP.

This great medicine cured Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, the Proprietor, of Pulmonary Consumption, when it had assumed its more formidable aspect, and when speedy death appeared to be inevitable. His physicians pronounced his case incurable, when he commenced the use of this simple but powerful remedy. His health was restored in a very short time, and no return of the disease has been apprehended, for all the symptoms quickly disappeared, and his present weight is more than two hundred pounds.

Since his recovery, he has devoted his attention exclusively to the cure of Consumption, and the diseases which are usually complicated with it, and the cures effected by his medicines have been very numerous and truly wonderful. Dr. SCHENCK makes professional visits to several of the larger cities weekly, where he has a large concourse of patients, and it is truly astonishing to see poor consumptives that have to be lifted out of their carriages, and in a few months healthy, robust persons. DR. SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC, and MANDRAKE PILLS are generally all required in curing Consumption. Full directions accompany each, so that any one can take them without seeing Dr. SCHENCK, but when it is convenient is best to see him. He gives advice free, but for a through examination with his Respirometer his fee is three dollars.

Please observe, when purchasing, that the two likenesses of the Doctor—one when in the last stage of Consumption, and the other as he now is, in perfect health—are on the Government stamp.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers. Price $1.50 per bottle, or $7 50 the half dozen. Letters for advice should always be directed to Dr. Schenck's Principal Office, No. 15 North 6th Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
